WOODRUFF CENSURED.

Called Cowards and Betrayers at Reapportionment Meeting.

While the Parsons redistricting of New York County into Assembly districts agreed to by "Little Tim" Sullivan was sanctioned by the Board of Aldermen yesterday, it did not escape bitter censure. Indeed, Chairman Parsons of the county committee and State Chairman Woodruff were labelled by Alderman Downing, who called himself an organization Republican, "cowards" and "men who had betrayed their trust." He was vit.iolic in his denunciation of what he termed "n

wif. folic in his demunciation of what he termed "a dirty deal" with the Democrats—"Tammany Hall and McCarren."

The Board of Aldermen held a special meeting yesterday, as required by the reapportionment bill adopted at the extraordinary session of the Legis-lature, to divide the Senate districts created at that lature, to divide the Senate districts created at that time into Assembly districts. Alderman Goodman acted as president and Alderman Doull served as clerk. Alderman Grifenhagen presented the report of the Committee on Apportionment, together with a map outlining the new Assembly districts. The changes in the boundary lines were in most cases nominal. The 1st, 2d, 2d, 4th, 5th, 6th, 25th and one or two districts further uptown were changed slightly, but in no instance to an extent to affect the political belance in the least. Only two Senett districts in the greater city were changed by the reapportionment act, and the changes thus made necessary few shifts in the Assembly districts.

Nevertheless, when the report was presented Alderman Mulligan asked that his name be erased from the report, while Peters, the Independence Leaguer, raised a storm of protest, objecting to the from the report, while Peters, the Independence Leaguer, raised a storm of protest, objecting to the reception of the report, which, he said, was the result of a corrupt deal which would estrange any voter of intelligence and independence in either party. Peters demanded that it be laid over for a week. Chairman Goodman pounded his gavel until Peters subsided, and the report was received. Dehate immediately was shut off. Half a dozen men were trying to speak, but Grifenhagen moved the previous question, and the chairman upheld kim. On the rollcall Alderman Downing, of Kings County, protested against this "high handed proceeding." He said that, while he was an organization Republican, he couldn't follow the leaders of his party in all their doines, and this was one of the things he could not stand for.

"I consider the reapportionment bill unconstitutional," said he. "I believe that the Republican leaders are cowards, and I say that they have betrayed their party and are unworthy of our support. Why, although they were in the majority in the Legislature, they submitted to the dictation of the Democrats, led by Tammany Hall and McCarren, and took the crumbs which the Democrats left when they could have mapped out several perfectly safe Republican districts. I have done my best to support Woodruff and Parsons in the past, but through their weakness and cowardice they have prevented the victors from obtaining the proval, and Berough President Haffen objected strongly to the plan. "Little Tim" entered an ingenious defence of the new districts.

Under the bill for an alsermanic redistricting of the city, which Acting Mayor McGowan signed yesterday, the boundaries of the aldermanic districts will be practically the same as those of the new Assembly districts. From the 1st to the 22d district the boundaries will be the same. The 23d Assembly District will have two alder-mante districts, as will the 30th Assembly District. The 52d Assembly District, in The Bronx, will have three aldermanic districts within its boundaries.

DEMOCRATS NOMINATE EGGLESTON.

He Had Been "Turned Down" by Republican Machine in Orleans County for Assembly.

[By Telegraph to The Tribune.] Medina, N. Y., July 30.—The Democratic Commit-tee of Orleans County to-day nominated Myron E. Eggleston, of Gaines, for member of Assembly. Eggleston, who is a Republican, is the present ingleston, who is a Republican, is the present incumbent, but was refused a renomination by the

PEONAGE CASE WITNESS TELLS STORY

In the United States Circuit Court yesterday Julius Kron, the principal witness for the prosect tion in the cases against Stanley Bagg and William Smith, charged with attempting to bribe a government employe, was subjected to a searching cross-examination. Kron told on Monday how the defendants had tried to get from him the names and some of the testimony of witnesses before the federal grand fury in the peonage cases. Kron stuck to his original story that Bagg had offered him a $39 job with a railroad pass for life in exchange for the information, but failed to connect Smith with the offer. Michael Tandlich, an East Side restaurant keeper, who introduced Bagg and Kron, and in whose place some of the meetings were held, was also a witness, and was on the stand when court adjourned. The case will be continued to-day.

The son was named an executor of the estate, and he exercised his right to buy the property yesterday. He intends to alter the house extensively and then TENANTS LEAVE HOUSE IN HURRY. Occupants of the tenement house at No. 154 Eas 27th street were ordered to move out of their homes yesterday. The police had been told that the building was unsafe by a building inspector. The tenants left behind their furniture and house hold utensils, so great was their terror when they learned of the decision of the inspector. Bound the building there has been during the last few weeks an excavation for the foundation of an adjoining building.

PUBLIC WORKS PLACE FILLED. Albany, July 29.-F. C. Stevens, Superintendent of the State Department of Public Works, to-day announced the appointment of Olin E. #### Search About Long Beach Reveals Missing Property.

Search about the ruins of the Long Beach Hotel yesterday brought to light a great deal more of the jewelry and other valuables which were lost by the guests of the hotel in the fire on Monday morning. All the articles found in the ruins have been turned over to Justice Archer B. Wallace, who has already returned most of them to their owners. The search seems to have been thorough, as the list of missing articles has dwindled down to a small one The ruins were put under guard of deputy sheriffs yesterday, which put an effective check upon all attempts at looting. Justice Wallace discharged in the morning the five men who were arrested for having in their possession a quantity of wearing apparel and jewelry taken from the ruins. They all declared that they were simply taking care of the articles and were going to turn them over to Mr. Quinn, the manager, as soon as they had time. The fact that they had not attempted to leave the

The fact that they had not attempted to leave the island was counted in their favor, and no one appeared to prosecute them.

Among those who are indebted to Senator Me-Carren for saving their jewelry and other valuables is Mrs. Miller, of this city, a sister-in-law of Fire Commissioner Wise. As she was rushing from her room upon hearing the alarm of fire she met the Senator, who told her how to get out of the hotel and then ran back to her room and gathered up everything of value he could find. These he wrapped in a newspaper and placed in one of the safes. Mrs. Miller had more than $10,000 worth of jewelry in her room, it is said, but her jewelry loss was confined to a necklace, though she also lost all her wearing apparel.

Michael Gallagher, who was employed in the hotel as a laundryman, was taken to St. John's Hospital, in Long Island City, vesterday suffering from a broken arm and paralysis of the left leg. He jumped from a window during the fire, breaking the limb and injuring his spine, which is thought to be the cause of the paralysis of his leg. He was cared for at a cottage on the beach up to vesterday.

The Long Beach Estates will hurry along the erection of a new building and expect to have it ready in record time. It is intended to have the new hotel and all buildings put up near it entirely

TO MAKE CONEY ISLAND SAFER.

Brooklynite Drafts Ordinance Which Will Call for Better Class of Buildings.

Acting Borough President Dunne of Brooklyn alled to get before the Board of Aldermen yesterday the proposed ordinance suggested by David A Moore, Superintendent of Buildings in Brooklyn, to Moore, Superintendent of Buildings in Brooklyn, to change the building regulations regarding Coney Island. Acting Mayor McGowan said that, as the meeting of the board was a special one, he could not have the matter brought up, but he asked Mr. Dunne to furnish him with a copy of the proposed ordinance and he would consider the plan of calling a special meeting to act upon it.

With this understanding Mr. Dunne returned to Brooklyn and had Mr. Moore draft an ordinance for the Acting Mayor. It will not put Coney Island in the regular fire limits, but it will have the effect of so doing in the business sections. Mr. Moore said this ordinance would have the effect of permitting the building of cottages on the comparatively cheap sites, while in the expensive business sections the property owners would be compelled to put up brick or stone structures to get their money's worth out of their holdings.

The first building to rise out of the charred remains of Steeplechase Park will be an Italian restaurant and hotel, work on which began yesterday, while the Building Department officials were waiting for the Board of Aldermen to take action. The Italian corporation, which owned the destroyed Steeplechase Hotel, made application to the Buildings Department on Monday for a permit to build a new hotel. # WITHDRAW MEN FROM TUBE.

Belmont Engineers Fear Blowout-South Bore Nearly Done.

The work of boring the south tube of the Bel-mont tunnel under the East River has reached such a dangerous stage that it has been found necessary to withdraw the men from the heading that leads from the Man-o'-War Rock out in the river toward the Long Island City shore. That river toward the Long Island City shore. That part of the tube has been bored on an up grade, and if a blowour should now occur the water. It is feared, would fill up the low part of the tube so that any men at work near the end of the heading would be cut off and there would be no way to get them out. It was announced by the engineers in charge of the job yesterday that the two headings were within eighteen feet of each other, but the conditions encountered were such that a short suspension of operations was necessary.

There are numerous large bowlders in the mud between the two cutting shields, and before they can be removed with safety a blanket of clay must be formed on the bottom of the river to prevent, if possible, a blowout of the compressed air. When howlders are removed they generally so weaken the mud overhead that trouble follows. The ramaining eighteen reet of the tube will be cut out from the Long Island City side, as that is down grade, and a blowout would not admit sufficient water to create much danger. The engineers hope to have the two headings meet in two weeks. They have forced a gas pipe through the remaining space, and find that the two shields will meet perfectly. The completion of the south tube of the Belmont tunnel will leave nothing but the finishing work to be done. There are numerous large bowlders in the mud

STRIKE OF THE HATTERS AVERTED.

New Agreement Between Men and Manufacturers Signed-Keep Union Label.

The differences between the National Fur Felt Hat Manufacturers' Association and the United Hatters of America, which threatened to culminate in a general strike of the hatters in South Norwalk, Danbury, Brooklyn, Newark, Orange, Philadelphia and Boston, were settled yesterday after adelphia and Boston, were settled yesterday after a series of conferences in the Broadway Central Hotel between the executive committees of the two organizations. A strike would have affected from 15,000 to 20,000 hat workers.

The trouble began six weeks ago, when the manufacturers demanded the acceptance of a set of new rules, which the union rejected. The officers of the union say that the manufacturers submitted the rules with the ultimatum that if they were not accepted they would cease using the union label on August 1. The union decided on a strike if the union label was thrown out. union label was thrown out.

The trouble was settled yesterday by the officers of the union accepting a new set of rules which were a medification to some extent of the rules originally proposed. An agreement embodying these rules was signed for the union by John E. Moffitt, president; Frank P. Shalboy, vice-president; Martin Lawlor, secretary, and James Maher, treasurer treasurer. Major Paul Brindriss, of Baltimore, received a scant welcome from District Attorney Clarke yes-terday when he told him in the Adams street police ourt that he had come to Brooklyn to reopen the offices of the American Salvation Army. A hearing on the army case had been set for yesterday, but it was postponed until August 6 at Clarke's request. The District Attorney told Magistrate Tighe that he was still investigating the moral and fluancial status of the organization and needed more time.

On his way out Clarke was stopped by two officers of the army, who asked when they might re-open. Mr. Clarke said:
"You will never open in Brooklyn while I am District Attorney of Kings County. The best thing District Attorney of Kings County. The best thing that you can do is to pack up and get out."

Major Brindriss said that he had been sent from Philadeiphia to reopen the office and that he intended to obey instructions. He said that he was a property owner in Brooklyn and would like to see the District Attorney stop him. Clarke said that he would ask the September grand jury to investigate the army and that he expected indictments for grand larceny and for the maintenance of a disorderly house.

WHAT'S IN A NAME WHEN IT'S A DOG!

"Fanny," Said One; "Alexandre," Said Another Woman-Magistrate Merely Whistled. Magistrate Furlong may possess the wisiom of Solomon, but if he does it was off on a vacation vesterday. Miss Annie Answacke, of No. 92 Malta street, East New York, and Mrs. Harry Schneider, of Linwood street and Vienna avenue, both lay claim to a dog. The court attendants called it a plain coach dog. The rival claimants asserted that it was a real Dalmatian with ties of consanguitity with the Vanderbilt Dalmatians. Miss Answacke called it her Fanny; Mrs. Schneider called it her Alexandre The magistrate merely whistled. It responded quicker to the magistrate. He patted the dog and waited. Then he had an inspiration-the magistrate, not the dog. "Bill." said he to the fat court officer, "call the dog by one of those names."

Come here, Fanny," said the officer. The coach dog jumped up, furiously wagging in tail. Miss Answacke and her following tuned looks of triumphant scorn upon the Schmids adherents.

"Here, you, Alexandre," said the court of er. The dog pranced back, tall still wassins The Schneider faction grew cheerful again. The magistrate puckered up his lips, that's all.
The 'dorg' saw the motion. It waited for so sound, jumped over the rail and into the maristrate's lap.

"He's yours, Mrs. Schneider," said the count". I'll go to the highest sourts, said Miss And wacke, "for it's not Alexandre but Fanny."

MOTOR CYCLE ENDURANCE RUN.

Springfield, Mass. July 30.—Out of fifty-five meter cyclists who started from New York City at 430 o'clock this morning on a two days' endurance run to Frovidence, by way of Foughkeersie and this city, twenty-five finished within the time limit here to-night. The hardest run of the day was over "Jacob's Ladder." in Beckett, this state, where the only accident, outside punctured tires and minor breakdowns, occurred.

H. A. Gliesman, of New York, etding machine. H. A. Gliesman, of New York, riding machine No. 12, was thrown from his cycle by striking depsand at the foot of the hill, and although he was bruised and his foot hurt, he pluckly resumed the journey and arrived here late this evening.

A CONVERT.

A CONVERT.

A clergyman recently spoke in a penitentiary, and noticed that one of the convicts seemed extraordinarity impressed. After the service he sought him out and said: "My friend, I hope you will profit by my remarks just now, and become a new man." "Indeed I will," was the chearful reply. "In fact, I promise to you that I will never commit another crime, but will lead an exemplary life to my dying day." "I am very glad to hear you say that," said the clergyman; "but are you cartain you will be able to keep the promise?" "Oh yes," said the convict; "I'm in here for life."—Illustrated Bits.
